Democratic, Right or wrong.

TRUE TO THE GRAY.

BY PEARL RIVERS.

I cannot listen to your words;

The land is long and wide—

Go seek some happy Northern girl, To be your loving bride.

My brothers, they were soldiers—

The youngest of the three—

Was slain while fighting by the side Of gallant Fitzhugh Lee.

They left his body on the field, (Your side the day had won);

A soldier spurned him with his foot—You might have been the one.

My lover was a soldier;

He belonged to Ford's band;

A sabre pierced his gallant heart—Yours might have been the hand.

He reeled and fell, but was not dead;

A horseman spurred his steed And trampled on the dying brain—You may have done the deed.

I hold no hatred in my heart,

No cold, unfeeling pride.

For many a gallant soldier fought Upon the other side.

But still I cannot kiss the hand That smote my country sore,

Nor love the foe that trampled down The colors that she bore.

Between my heart and yours, there rolls A deep and crimson tide—

My brother's and my lover's blood Forbids me be your bride.

The girls who loved the boys in gray,
The girls to country true,

May never in wedlock give the hand To those who wore the blue.

Fitz Green Hallack.

Among the notable people who visited New York in 1837 was a well-mannered but somewhat silent young man, who was landed at Norfolk, Va., from a French frigate, in the month of March, and upon whose cards was engraved Prince Louis Napoleon Bonaparte. During his two month's sojourn in New York, Hallack became well acquainted with him, meeting "the pretender to the French crown," as he was then styled, often in society, and having a seat next to the Prince at a large dinner party given by Chancellor Kent. Times change, says the Latin proverb, and persons change with them. How astonished old George the Third would have been had any one shown in a mirror, like that of Cornelius Agrippa, such a vision of the future as his granddaughter being on a visit to the nephew of a man whom in his day English satirists were accustomed to ridicule as "a little Corsican soldier." Relating to the poet my having seen Victoria leaning on the arm of Louis Napoleon as they entered, with Eugenie and Prince Albert, the Grand Opera at Paris, he remarked: "This indeed strange. I thought him a dull fellow, which he certainly was while among men, but brightly enough when surrounded by young ladies. He would sometimes say, 'When I shall be at the head of affairs in France,' or 'When I become Emperor,' and I then looked upon him as being as mad as a March hare, or, as my poor friend McDonald Clarke." To Alfred I'll he said of the prince, that he was "a rather dull man of the order of Washington." A lady friend of the poet remembers Mr. Hallack describing him "as a person who never looks in the face, and who always drops his eye if an individual, in turning suddenly, detects him looking at you," adding on her own part, that "the Emperor still has the same disinclination to looking any one square in the face." The poet and prince exchanged dinners, the latter dining with Hallack at Villagrands', while he was entertained by Louis Napoleon at the City Hotel. When Napoleon became Emperor, and confessedly the first statesman in Europe until his laurels were somewhat dimmed by the Prussian Bismarck, the poet was often asked for letters of introduction to his imperial friend, but with his characteristic diffidence, declined obtruding himself upon the notice of the Emperor, who, however, to this day retains kindly remembrance of his poet friend. [Wilson's Life of Hallack.

A man who died at Bethany, Connecticut, is noticed by a local paper, which says, "he was as honest a man as ever lived and had worn no hat in forty years."

The poles of the telegraph across the plains are a source of delight to scratching posts.

What Stimulants shall we Use.

George D. Prentice has contributed largely to the gems that sparkle in our English literature. This, on stimulants, may be placed among the golden sayings of Pythagoras:

There are times when the pulse lies low in the bosom, and beats low in the veins, when the spirit sleeps the sleep, which apparently, knows no waking, in its house of clay, and the window shutters are closed, and the door hung with the invisible crape of melancholy, when we wish the golden sunshine pitchy darkness, and very willing to fancy clouds where no clouds be. This is a state of sickness when physic may be thrown to the dogs, for we will have none of it. What shall raise the sleeping Lazarus? What shall make the heart beat music again, and the pulses dance to it through all the myriad-thronged halls in our house of life? What shall make the sun kiss the eastern hills for us, with all his awakening gladness, and the night overflow with moonlight, music, love and flowers? Love itself is the great stimulant, the most intoxicating of all, and performs all these miracles; but it is a miracle itself, and is not at the drug store, whatever they say.
The counterfeit is in the market, but the winged god is not a money changer, we assure you.

Men have tried many things, but still they ask for stimulants—the stimulants we use, but require the use of more. Men try to drown the floating dead of their own souls in the wine-cup, but the corpse will rise. We see their faces in the bubbles. The intoxication of drink sets the world whirling again, and the pulses playing music, and the thoughts galloping, but the first clock runs down sooner, and the unnatural stimulation only leaves the house it fills with the wildest revelry—more silent, more sad, more deserted, more dead.

There is only one stimulant that never fails; and yet never intoxicates Duty.—Duty puts a blue sky over every man—up in his heart may become which the skylark Happiness always goes singing.

[Charleston S. C. Courier.]

A LOSS TO THE STATE.—We greatly regret to notice the presence in our city of Colonel JOHN G. PRESLEY, Colonel JAS. F. PRESLEY, and Capt.
Dwight Barr, with their respective families numbering altogether a company of eighteen, and on their way by the Northern steamer to-morrow from this port and then via the Panama route to reside permanently in California. Colonel JOHN G. PRESLEY, late of Kingstree, has long been a leading lawyer in Williamsburg District, served his district repeatedly in the Legislature of the State, and was also a prominent member of the Secession Convention of 1860. He took an active part in our late civil struggle, was at Fort Wagner, Secessionville and Petersburg, where he was dangerously wounded, and always commended himself to the regard of the Eutaws by the distinguished gallantry with which, under the most trying circumstances, he ever led them. He has left, we are told, a large and lucrative practice behind him.

Col. JAS. F. PRESLEY, once commanded, with great gallantry, the Tenth South Carolina Regiment during the late war, and received a severe wound in the Battle of Stone Mountain. He, at one time, represented Williamsburg District in the Senate of the State, and since the war has been assiduously engaged in the practice of medicine, a profession in which his high abilities have always told with the distinguished effect.

Capt. DWIGHT BARR, was of the Eutaw Regiment during the late war, and, with the distinguished brothers PRESLEY, of whom we have just spoken, perhaps was equally as much devoted as they in his endeavors to establish correct government.
South Carolina and Williamsburg District can but ill spare such men as those mentioned by us in this notice, and while yielding them to California, promised the good people of that far off portion of the nation, an acquisition as which we know they will have abundant cause to be proud. We wish a pleasant and safe voyage and success in the future to all connected in any manner with the pleasant and intelligent party of which we here write.

Covington Yards.

The arrivals of stock at the above yards for the week ending April 4 were as follows:

Cattle 181

Sheep 175

Hogs 206

Cattle are rather dull, with a few left over. We quote the best butcher's stuff at 6 1/2 cts.

2d quality, 6 1/4 cts; 3d quality, 5 1/2 cts.

The demand for sheep is fair.

Prices range from 5c. to 7c. None left over. But few lambs arriving.

Corn-fed hogs sell at 8 1/2 cts., according to weight and quality. There is a difference of about $1 per hundred between corn-fed and slop-fed.

ANDREW JOHNSON.

KNOXVILLE, April 3.

At an early hour this morning the city was thronged with the old friend of Andrew Johnson, who assembled in groups and anxiously discussed Andy's former triumphs. He was met at the train by a delegation, at 11 o'clock and escorted to the Lamar House. He was introduced to a crowd of about 5,000 persons, by Mr. Nelson, who referred to Mr.
Johnson in complimentary terms, alluding to his differences with president political gentlemen present and to his early persecutions on account of his Union sentiments.

Mr. Johnson thanked the people for their welcome. He said he had tried to protect the Constitution.
All he asked was a fair examination of his record. He intended to devote the remainder of his life as a private citizen to the vindication of his official life and native State from the obloquy cast upon them. His back, through bent, had not been broken by the storm which had nearly recked the ship of State. Since he had been in papers his own obituary, he supposed he might be regarded as one risen from the dead. And he thought one coming from the grave should be believed. The Government is divided in three parts, and each department confined to its sphere. I tell you as one speaking from the dead, there is danger in the Government, and that danger is in the legislature department. The executive branch can not make laws neither can the judiciary; but the legislature branch under the pretense of making laws, can trample upon the liberties of the people. Yes, a despotic Congress can go on until it takes away the liberties of the people. But I feel I stood as a breakwater to the Government and arrested its progress for a time. The time has come to talk about the first principles of the Government: Take away the restraints which have held back Congress, and one branch of the Government will wipe out the other two. Let me tell you here, that a wise and good prince is infinite better than a despotic, arbitrary Congress. Look at the acts of Congress and see how they like the acts of Great Britain towards the colonies in the early days of this country.
Look at our condition—the writ of habeas corpus suspended, and when a citizen appeals to the supreme Court, Congress takes from him the right of appeal, and deprives him of liberty. He alluded to the charge of treason to his party; and asked when he had been false. He then took up the accusation about his being "Moses," and asked if it was not he who freed the negroes in Tennessee.
Freedom is only liberty to work; it is not to build a miserable lazaretto to be supported by the Government. I have never deceived the white men or black men. Let me say to you as I said to my old servant when I came back; "Tom, the only difference between us is I freed you four years ago, and I was emancipated on the 4th of March; you see, Tom, I address you as a freedman." As an evidence of his loyalty, he showed a paper signed by Governor Brownlow, acknowledging the receipt of fifteen hundred dollars to help establish a loyal press in Knoxville.
He told his hearers that they were all slaves to the bondholders, who never shed a drop of blood. I would to God that the Government had not the credit to borrow a dollar to carry on war. Thank God my honors have not been gained by blood.

The wounded soldiers can not attribute their wounds to me. He called upon them to cling to his compass and stand by the Constitution. He spoke about two hours, and was listened to with close attention. On retiring from the stand he was heartily applauded and at once surrounded by a group of old friends. In conversation he spoke of Grant without reserve, characterizing him as a bundle of prejudices, and spoke of his "Gift Enterprise Cabinet." The people are heartily glad to see Johnson

That we, the undersigned Union

Josh Billings says; "When a young man ain't good for anything else like tew see him carry a gold-headed cane. If he can't buy a cane, let him part his hair in the middle."

CYNTHIANA NEWS.

CYNTHIANA, APRIL 15, 1869.

LOCAL MATTER.

Look HERE!—We have received a new JOB PRESS, new DISPLAY TYPE, and new material of every description. We are now prepared to execute all kinds of Job Work—such as Circulars, Bill Heads, Cards, Posters, &c.—in every style, and in the neatest possible manner, and at the lowest prices. Give us a call.

A Card.

Ladies and gentlemen who have paid me their accounts, I return them my grateful acknowledgments, and to those who have put me off with the stale declaration, "I'll pay you to-morrow," "I'll pay Monday," "I'll pay you to-day," "Oh! that little account I can pay most any time," have failed to come to time, and I regret to say, that unless they come forward and satisfy me at once, Judge Curry will add something more to their accounts in the way of cost.

A. WILLIAMSON.

A. J. Morey and lady passed through the city yesterday, on a bridal tour to the West. O, Hymen! Hymen! surely thy ways are ways of pleasantness, and thy paths are paths of peace. May he ascend the slippery path of life with the full assurance that his wheel is checked, and "may his shadow never grow less" than two. May all evil forsake him, and may he never have occasion to look back with longing eyes on his life of single blessedness. May he walk in the path of duty, fearing no evil, having a rod and a staff to comfort him. May his "blessings" be piled Olympus high, "and may they live long and prosper, and grow up."

Though "Ulysses hath gone upon his wandering, there is one yet left at Ithica" who is able to bend Love's matchless bow; and who will receive all bouquets, scented notes, perturbed billets, love-knots, etc., in lieu of the departed Ulysses.

Beautiful Neckties, Bows, Pocket-handkerchiefs, Suspenders, Half Hose, (of English manufacture,) at A. Williamson's.

A vote was taken on County Court day by the stockholders of the Agricultural and Manufacturing Association as to whether they would remove the buildings to some point on the railroad, or allow them to remain where they are, and subscribe one thousand dollars stock to some Turnpike Company that would undertake to build a turnpike from Cynthia running past their grounds. Which resulted in the latter proposition being carried by a large majority. So that the public may expect to travel on a turnpike road to the fair next fall.

A first rate article of brogan shoes for men working in mud or rock, are at A. Williamson's. None better any where.

"Barrett's" Invigorates and Beautifies.

W. H. Brighter sold to J. J. Parrish his lot on Main street, 30 feet front for the sum of twelve hundred dollars. This lot is in the burnt district. Mr. Parrish will proceed forthwith to put up a substantial brick residence.

Young lady, if you have an ugly foot clothe it with the Kentucky heel Gaiter at A. Williamson's. None better.

MARRIED.

At the Christian church, Providence Fayette county, April 13th, at 10 o'clock A. M., by Elder R. M. Gano, Mr. A. J. Morey, Editor of the Cynthia News, to Miss Edw. B. Cassell, of Fayette county.

Joe C. Craddock, Miss Florida Roberts, Homer Longmore, Miss Shaw Turner, T. W. Anderson, Miss Jennie Headley, J. M. Swisher, Miss Bell Milligan.

The cheapest custom made calf boots ever brought to Cynthia, are at A. Williamson's.

The first tenant of Battle Grove Cemetery is George W. Coats a citizen of this city who went and lay down there under the turf alone. He was buried upon the City lot, purchased by the City for the resting place of her poor.

Very handsome Hats for men and boys, with prices to suit any body, are at A. Williamson's. Try him one pop, anyhow.

Planters Hotel.

This new Hotel is now undergoing a thorough cleaning and repair and the proprietor promises to the traveling public that no exertions shall be spared on his part to make it what Covington has so long needed a first class hotel.

Several gentlemen from a distance of capital and standing, visited Cynthia last Monday. Some of them expressed a desire to locate here. So we go.

"Barrett's" restores with rapidity.

FOREPAUGH'S MAMMOTH MENAGERIE AND CIRCUS.—This mammoth institution, which is advertised in another column to appear in this place, on Thursday, April 22d at one and seven o'clock, P. M. is beyond all comparison the largest and most complete outfit, embracing a greater variety of animals, and the choicest Equestrians and Acrobatic troupe of performers ever before united under one Pavilion for a summer's campaign. It is spoken of everywhere as par excellence to the most wealthy and gorgeous consolidation of the nineteenth century, reflecting great credit upon the energy and perseverance of Adam Forepaugh, whose providence and forethought, combined with remarkable skill and sagacity in devising means for rendering his Show not only unobjectionable to the cultivated and refined, but making it in every respect worthy of the confidence and patronage of an appreciative public. His career last year in the East, and in the great State of New York, was a perfect triumph of success, reaping a rich harvest of the golden opinions of the public press, which hesitated not to pronounce his establishment, both as to grandeur and magnificence, and the variety and extent of his great Zoological collection, the largest and grandest in America, numbering, as it does, twenty-five magnificent cages, filled with living wild animals, and thirty-five elegantly finished wagons for transporting the baggage du cirque, besides Camels, Dromedaries, Elephants, etc., constituting a picturesque procession more than a mile in length. We take pleasure, therefore, in advertising this great Equestrian and Animal Show and advise our readers, one and all, to go and see it for themselves. Those who wish to see the animals only, can do so, having one hour and a half to inspect them, before the Circus performances commence, and even longer if they desire, as they are exhibited in separate apartments. A feature with this show is the Band, all of which is Prussians, engaged in Berlin Prussia, this last winter, and are claimed to be the best Band in the country. For particulars see advertisement in another column and the small bills.

Gaiters for gentlemen can be bought cheaper from A. Williamson than from any other house in Kentucky. That's so.

"Barrett's" keeps the hair moist.

The monument, erected by the citizens of Harrison county, to the memory of the Volunteers, who fell in the Mexican war, is being removed from the Court House square to the new Cemetery on the Millersburg pike.

The original contributors to the purchase of this monument, thought that the public square was the most suitable and appropriate place for its final resting place, inasmuch as any one visiting Cynthia would almost certainly see it. Its removal will remove the pride and veneration the people felt for it. Comparatively few people, and especially strangers, will see it at its present destined location.

The nicest Spring Collars to suit gentlemen, are at A. Williamson's. Give him a call, as his goods are fine.

For a strong, good, and cheap Shoe for men and boys and women, go to A. Williamson's. He sells very cheap.

"Barrett's" Miraculous Hair Restorative.

The appointment of a city Marshall, to serve the ensuing term, will be one among the first duties of the incoming City Council. As it is one of the most important offices connected with one municipal government, it is to be hoped that the power vested in them may be exercised with a due regard to the best interests of the city and the maintenance of peace and good order within its limits. We have in this community and surrounding country a class of men who pride themselves upon setting the law and its officers at defiance; who make every visit the opportunity of a drunken carousal, often prolonged far towards morning, and making night hideous with hoots and yells and caterwaulings that even a drunken Indian would be ashamed of. Yet these offenders against the plainly written ordinances of the City have never, with perhaps the exception of a few isolated cases, been molested.

What we want, therefore, is an energetic and competent man who, knowing his duty, will dare to do it.

Tell your neighbors to go to all the stores and examine, and then buy A. Williamson's cheap Calf Boots. They fit easy.

The brother of Dr. J. F. Bell, who died at Gordonsville, Va., during the war, is now on a visit to Virginia for the purpose of bringing the remains of his brother home.

The finest and handsomest and cheapest children's shoes for Spring and Summer wear are at A. Williamson's. No joke.

COUNTY COURT DAY SALES.—But few cattle in the market, mostly yearlings, and selling at fair prices, fully as good as last month's sales. A few mule colts were offered but were withdrawn, prices having declined. Horses were in good demand and sold at fair prices. The day was changeable, yet the crowd in attendance was good.

"Barrett's" recommends itself.

The handsomest custom made Kentucky heel Gaiters for Spring and Summer wear, are at A. Williamson's. They please all.

We have been shown the plans and specifications of the house proposed to be built by Mr. Jas. A. Cook on the grounds lately purchased by him of Dr. John O. Hodges. The building will occupy the centre of the lot which is an entire square, and will front on two streets, Miller and Pike. The grounds are admirably situated, being elevated and commanding a view of the entire city, and much of the surrounding country. Many stately maples, nature's noblest ornaments, now adorn the place, and in after years under the skillful management of Mr. Cook we have no hesitancy in saying that it will become a perfect Paradise.

The structure of the building itself deserves a passing notice at our hands, inasmuch as it is designed to be the most finished and elegant piece of architecture in the city.

The main building will front on each of the streets named above, about 50 feet and will be octagonal. The first or principal floor will contain two parlors, each 16 feet square, beautifully frescoed, Dining Room, Reception Room, Family Room, two other Rooms, and Hall 10 feet wide running full length of the house.

The second floor will contain six sleeping apartments, and Bath Room supplied with hot and cold water. The whole house will be heated with steam pipes. There will be two Verandas, three balconies, and one Bay Window. The roofing will be of French slate. On the top of the house will be a Balcony. Attached to the main building will be an Ell of two stories. In the entire house will be thirty windows and forty-seven doors. The style of the architecture will be the English Villa.

The entire cost of the building will be about thirty thousand dollars. We wish Mr. Cook much success in this enterprise, and long life to enjoy this beautiful and elegant residence.
